Dear Chairman Wheeler:

I attended "Bay Area Speaks: A People's Hearing on the Future of the Internet" on Nov. 20, 2014. I would like to share my comments with you in writing:

I'm 24. I actually have hoped that the Internet can play a huge democratizing and educating role for my generation. But I realize it's not an inherently democratizing force. The Internet is just a New Battleground. Please, please, please, don't let the same patterns of power, imprecision and distort the Internet. When I'm 50, what am I going to think about Internet culture? Will I trust that my kids will find what they're looking for? or will I feel the way I feel about TV today? Not a tool for creativity and education, but a big money making machine. (Continue on back if needed)
